

Policy on Compliance with Anti-Corruption & Anti Bribery Rules

Our Values

ZIM Integrated Shipping Services Limited and its subsidiaries ("ZIM" or the "Company") is committed to maintaining the highest ethical standards. Our Code of Ethics describes our commitment "to fairness in business and integrity in doing business." True, we will not engage in bribery because it is against the law, and it is our policy to comply with applicable anti-bribery and anti-corruption laws. But more than that, we act honorably in all of our business dealings because it is the right thing to do. It is who we are.

The purpose of this Policy is to underline our collective commitment to these values and to compliance with all relevant anti-bribery laws. We must be aware of local anti-bribery laws where we operate, but we also must recognize that the foreign bribery laws of European nations, the United States, and other countries have a broad extraterritorial reach. Many of these foreign bribery laws are strictly enforced. Even if we avoid criminal liability, a bribery investigation can cause enormous reputational damage to the firm and our business partners.

If you have a question or concern about what is proper conduct for you or anyone else, promptly raise the issue with your manager, the General Counsel or the Regulation Manager, or use the ZIM whistleblower tool. Our managers must address employees' concerns about this Policy promptly and with respect. Managers are required themselves to act honorably, but they also must promote an environment in which compliance with this Policy and applicable law is part of ZIM's culture.

Each of us is responsible for upholding the Company's values. We must earn the trust of our fellow employees, our customers, and ZIM's other business partners every day. We endeavor to operate as a world class company. Only performance with integrity will maintain our reputation and our customers' confidence in our business.

1. Preamble

ZIM is committed to conducting business in an honest, ethical and professional manner wherever ZIM operates. We will adhere to these standards and ZIM's Code of Ethics,¹ even if it means that we lose business, suffer delays or face unfair government sanctions. No employee will ever suffer a penalty or face any retaliation for refusing to pay bribes or for reporting demands for bribes or other corrupt activity.

By the nature of its business, ZIM faces a variety of corruption risks. This Policy will not attempt to identify all of those risks but at the outset, we highlight three key ZIM risks:

- (i) operation in high-risk jurisdictions;
- (ii) shipping has historically been considered a relatively high-risk business sector; and
- (iii) demands by government, port officials or others for small payments to perform their duties.

ZIM's policy is to conduct our operations and activities in compliance with all applicable anti-bribery laws. This Policy will help explain these laws and help you and the Company remain on the right side of the law.

Failure to follow these laws may result in the imposition of large fines, debarment from government contracts, or other sanctions that may threaten our ability to continue to do business, as well as irreparably damage our reputation. In addition, individuals who violate anti-bribery laws can be sentenced to lengthy jail terms.

In light of these concerns, ZIM's Board of Directors approved the adoption of this Policy on Compliance with Anti-Corruption and Anti-Bribery Laws (the "Policy"), which, in essence, expands on the principles and specific prohibition against bribery found in ZIM's Code of Ethics.

This Policy applies to all ZIM's directors and employees, all ZIM subsidiaries, and all ZIM joint ventures that ZIM controls. All ZIM directors and employees must read and comply with this Policy. Managers at all levels are responsible for ensuring that their subordinates are aware of and understand this Policy and for responding to questions regarding the Policy. All ZIM employees are responsible for ensuring compliance with this Policy, including adopting compliance measures that are no less stringent than the compliance measures provided in this policy, and for reporting any actual or suspected violations of the Policy. Any employees with comments regarding the Policy are encouraged to contact the General Counsel and Corporate Secretary ("General Counsel") or the legal department regulation manager (the: "Regulation Manager").

2. General Statement of Policy

ZIM prohibits providing any money or anything else of value to any person to gain or retain business or improperly to influence some government decision (e.g., avoiding an environmental fine).

You cannot solicit or receive payments of money or anything of value in return for making decisions that improperly favor a business partner.

Any improper payments that cannot be made directly cannot be made indirectly through a third party. As will be discussed in Section 6, you cannot make payments to a third party if you know, or have reasonable grounds to believe, that all or a part of that payment will be passed on by the third party as a bribe.

Subject to the limitations detailed in Section 5.2, reasonable gifts, meals, entertainment, travel, lodging and other hospitality (collectively, "gifts and hospitality") may be provided by ZIM if the gifts and hospitality are provided without any corrupt intent or to obtain or retain business or influence a government decision, and, instead, the purpose of the payment is to foster good business relations.²

In addition to these limitations, ZIM will comply with all relevant anti-bribery laws and regulations, including the Israeli Penal Law, the U.K. Bribery Act and the U.S. Foreign Corrupt Practices Act (“FCPA”). Anti-bribery laws vary around the world but they generally follow similar forms, banning direct or indirect bribes of money or anything of value to government officials (and sometimes private parties). When in doubt regarding the particular requirements of any local law, contact the General Counsel and the Regulation Manager.

As noted, you must speak up if you see or suspect corrupt activity at ZIM or if a business partner has or may engage in corruption. See Section 13 for further information.

3. Dealing with Government Officials

ZIM prohibits the payment of bribes to any person, and many anti-bribery laws, such as the U.K. Bribery Act, ban bribe payments not only to government officials, but also to private parties (such as our private sector business partners). However, you should be particularly careful in your relationships with government officials. Not only is the payment of bribes prohibited, but local laws may also prohibit anyone from providing other things of value, such as gifts and hospitality, to government officials. In addition, and where practical, it is recommended that you attend a meeting with a Government Official with at least one more ZIM employee and prepare a written summary of this meeting. If you have any questions regarding your interactions with government officials, contact the General Counsel or the Regulation Manager. In this context, you should consider the term “government official” to be defined broadly to include any government official or employee (including those performing executive, legislative or judicial functions or acting at a local or national level), employees of state-owned or controlled enterprises, employees of international organizations such as the World Bank, political party officials or employees, candidates for political office, or persons working in an official capacity for or on behalf of any of these government officials (collectively, “Government Officials”). This broad definition is used in this Policy.

4. Bribe Payments Can Be Anything of Value

Bribe payments are often money but they can be anything of value. For example, a bribe can be a lavish or excessive gift, meals, travel, entertainment or other hospitality; the forgiveness of debt; a job provided to a relative of a government official; stock; and charitable donations to a charity favored by a government official. Employees should ensure anything of value that the Company offers to an individual is not designed to improperly or corruptly influence that person.

5. Gifts, Meals, Entertainment, Lodging, Travel

As noted above, gifts and hospitality can be used as bribes. You cannot provide gifts and hospitality to any person corruptly, with the expectation that this person will provide some improper advantage to ZIM.²

However, providing reasonable gifts and hospitality for, or receiving hospitality from, our business partners is generally permitted if the cost of such gifts and hospitality is reasonable and it is provided for an appropriate business purpose. For example, gifts and hospitality designed to foster good business relations and that do not have a corrupt purpose are generally permitted. These general principles apply when providing gifts and hospitality to government officials, but as noted, the risk associated when offering anything to government officials is higher than making the same offer to someone in the private sector. Local law may place strict limits on what types of gifts and hospitality may be provided to government officials. For example, it may be illegal to provide even a trivial gift to a government official working in a procurement capacity.

To avoid any suggestion that ZIM is providing hospitality for any corrupt purpose or in contravention of the law, ZIM has adopted the procedures outlined below.

5.1. Permitted Gifts and Hospitality

While no gifts, meals, entertainment, travel, lodging or other hospitality may be provided to corruptly obtain business or some improper advantage, generally the following activity is permitted:

- Small value promotional gifts or reasonably priced meals or entertainment offered as an indication of good will or etiquette. Modest gifts with the ZIM logo are generally less likely to raise concerns (e.g., pens, sweatshirt, notepad). Note, however, the value limitations placed on certain hospitality payments below in Section 5.2.
- Reasonable and bona fide expenditures, such as travel and lodging expenses directly related to (i) the promotion, demonstration, or explanation of ZIM services and to further ZIM's business objectives; or (ii) the execution or performance of a contract with a government or business partner.

5.2. Restrictions on Gift and Hospitality

In order to avoid even the appearance of improper behavior regarding the use of gifts and hospitality, this Policy provides the following additional rules and guidelines regarding the use of such items:

- No gifts of cash (or cash equivalents such as gift cards) may be provided to any party.
- No gifts may be made in excess of US$150 per individual recipient per year, and as may be determined from time to time in ZIM's relevant procedure.
- No business meals and entertainment expenses may cost more than US$150 per person other than special cases that have been approved by ZIM's VP/EVP, and as may be determined from time to time in ZIM's relevant procedures.²
- Any hospitality payments for Government Officials are prohibited. Any request for payments to Government officials, which may only be granted in extraordinary circumstances, must be approved in advance by the Legal Unit.
- All payments of gifts, meals, entertainment, travel, lodging or other hospitality must comply with any applicable local law.
- To avoid any implication that the payments are part of a corrupt quid pro quo arrangement, you should avoid providing gifts and hospitality close in time to decisions by Government Officials or third parties that may impact ZIM's business.
- You may not provide hospitality to relatives of a Government Official or relatives of an employee of a private sector business partner. For example, if you take an employee of a potential client out to dinner, you generally may pay for the employee of the potential client, but not for that employee's spouse.

- Travel payments may only be made for third parties if the travel is required to further some business purpose. Any airline travel for any third parties or any travel payments for Government Officials must be approved in advance by the General Counsel or the Regulation Manager.
- Any proposed hospitality payments that would deviate from these rules must be approved in writing in advance by the General Counsel or Regulation Manager.

5.3. Recording of Hospitality Payments

All hospitality expenses must (i) be supported by appropriate receipts, invoices, statements or other relevant documents and (ii) accurately recorded in ZIM's books. See Section 9 for further details.

6. Business Partners

ZIM is committed to working only with competent, reputable business partners that act with integrity. Working with dishonest business partners may not only damage ZIM's reputation, but it may also lead to legal liability for ZIM and for you. For example, it is just as illegal for you to use a third party to pay a bribe indirectly as it is for you to pay that bribe directly yourself. Likewise, if you make a payment to a third party while knowing, or having reasonable grounds to believe that all or a portion of that payment will be passed on to a Government Official or another person for a corrupt purpose, then you (and ZIM) may be liable for the payment as if you made it yourself. The procedures described in this Section help ensure that you, and ZIM, only work with reputable business partners and will help prevent payments to third parties being used for corrupt purposes.

6.1. Written Contracts

In addition to as required by law, any agreement with an expected annual turnover in excess of US$100,000 with a Government Official, or with any third party interacting with Government Officials on ZIM's behalf shall be in writing. This will also apply to joint venture agreements.

6.2. Due Diligence on Certain Business Partners

Third parties interacting with Government Officials on ZIM'S behalf must undergo anti-corruption diligence review by the business unit retaining the third party. This due diligence includes:

- (i) a questionnaire to be completed by the third party;
- (ii) a certification from the ZIM employee seeking to hire the third party; and
- (iii) an executed approval form.

Note that conducting business directly with a government body or a state-owned enterprise does not require the third-party diligence outlined here. For example, if ZIM conducts business directly with a state-owned shipping company, without the use of any intermediaries, these diligence procedures do not apply. However, the General Counsel, the Regulation Manager, or any other ZIM manager can direct that the third-party diligence described here be conducted for any other third party that appears to present significant corruption risk.

The diligence forms for third party diligence (i) – (iii), above) is included as Annex A.

6.3. Anti-corruption Contract Terms

The terms set forth at Annex B (or terms substantially similar to those set forth at Annex B) shall be included in contracts with all third parties interacting Government Officials on ZIM's behalf. Contracts with these third parties shall also contain:

- A description of the services or goods to be provided by the third party.
- Details and conditions of the amount to be paid to the third party, including the specific account where the payment to the third party shall be made. Without the prior consent of the General Counsel or the Regulation Manager, payments shall only be made (i) in countries where the third party operates or has a headquarters (e.g., a payment to an agent in China cannot be made to a Swiss bank account) and (ii) to an account in the name of the contracting third party.

6.4. Ongoing Monitoring

You must monitor all third parties, but particularly those that interact with Government Officials on ZIM's behalf, for signs of corrupt activity. Warning signs or "red flags" indicating possible corruption or increased risk of corruption are set forth at Annex C. You should report any significant red flags to the General Counsel or the Regulation Manager.

7. Donations

ZIM does not make contributions to political parties.

You should also exercise care in making charitable donations on ZIM's behalf. As noted above, Government Officials may attempt to solicit corrupt payments through charities. Therefore, unless you are making a charitable donation to a well-known and reputable charity (e.g., the Red Cross or UNICEF), ZIM requires that donations be subjected to reasonable diligence, including information on the nature of the potential recipients of charitable donations. Through that diligence, ZIM will attempt to identify unethical activity at the charity or any ties between a charity and Government Officials. To obtain approval for a charitable donation, you must inform the General Counsel or Regulation Manager if the request for a donation originated with a Government Official or if the donation will support government programs (e.g., schools). Charitable donations, and any related diligence, must be approved in advance of any donation by ZIM's Donation Committee and in accordance with ZIM's Donation Policy.

8. Payments to Protect Health and Safety

ZIM will not risk the health or security of its employees or the employees of its business partners. You may make a payment that would otherwise be barred by this Policy if the payment is required to protect the health or safety of any individual. These payments should only be made with the advance written approval of the General Counsel, but if advance approval is not practical, these payments should be reported to the General Counsel's office as soon as possible after the payment is made.

9. Accurate Records

All ZIM transactions must be accurately and completely recorded and documented. At a minimum, ZIM's records must set forth the amount of any payment, the recipient of the payment, the reason for the payment, and the date of the payment. Records documenting payments of hospitality (e.g., meals, entertainment, gifts) must identify also whether any payments were made to Government Officials and the name and position of the Government Official. You should never create false invoices, payroll records or other false and misleading financial records or documents, nor may ZIM maintain accounts or assets that are not recorded on appropriate ZIM records.

10. Training

New employees shall receive appropriate anti-corruption training upon hiring. Other employees will receive, where appropriate, risk-based training that may vary depending upon the employee's role and exposure to Government Officials. The General Counsel and Regulation Manager are responsible for creating and implementing an appropriate anti-corruption training program.

11. Violations of this Policy

Any employee who violates this Policy may be subject to disciplinary action, including termination of employment. ZIM may also refer possible illegal activity to law enforcement authorities.

12. Responsibility for this Policy

The General Counsel is responsible for the oversight and effective implementation of this Policy. The Regulation Manager will monitor and review the effectiveness of this Policy. The Regulation Manager shall submit a report at least once every two years to the General Counsel, and to the Board of Directors at least once every four years, reviewing the implementation of the Policy and recommending, if appropriate, any modifications to the Policy.

13. Reporting Potential Violations

Promptly upon becoming aware of any actual or potential violations of this Policy or any anti-corruption law, employees shall report the matter via email to the General Counsel (Noam Nativ; Nativ.Noam@zim.com) or Regulation Manager (Tammy Hevrony; Hevrony.Tammy@zim.com).

In addition, written reports may be made anonymously in accordance with ZIM's Whistleblower and Internal Complaints procedure,³ via the following Whistleblower Hotline-

14. No Retaliation

No ZIM employee shall face retaliation or suffer any detrimental treatment as a result of refusing to take part in bribery or corruption or as a result of a good faith reporting of actual or suspected corrupt activity or violations of this Policy. If you believe you have suffered any such treatment, follow ZIM's whistleblower and Internal Complaints procedure, and notify ZIM's Internal Ethics Committee⁴ at: dahan-nagar.simcha@il.zim.com, or if the treatment involves a member of ZIM's Internal Ethics Committee, the Board of Directors.

Annex C - Red Flags

Set forth below are examples of warning signs or “red flags” indicating possible corrupt activity by a business partner. This list is not exhaustive. Identifying one or more of these red flags does not necessarily mean that a third party has engaged in corruption. Employees identifying significant red flags should immediately contact the General Counsel and notify their manager.

- The third party has a poor business reputation or a history of making unethical payments.
- The third party has a family or business relationship with a Government Official.
- A customer or proposed customer or Government Official recommends or insists on working with the third party.
- The third party insists on keeping his identity confidential or refuses to divulge the identity of its owners, employees, or agents.
- The third party does not have relevant experience or adequate facilities, staff or other resources to perform the services or tasks for which the third party will be engaged.
- Another entity had terminated a business relationship with the third party in question under suspicious or unexplained circumstances.
- The third party provides incomplete or inaccurate diligence or other information to ZIM.
- The third party refuses to put agreed terms in writing or insists on unusual or suspicious contracting procedures.
- The third party seeks secretive or unusual payment mechanisms (such as an unusual advance or a bonus), requests payment in cash or cash equivalents, requests payments in location where the third party has no offices or operations, or requests payments to a party other than the third party entering into the agreement with ZIM or with a party not involved in performing services for ZIM.
- The fee or commission to be paid to the third party in question is unusually high or complicated (e.g., payments through third party).
- The third party submits inflated, inaccurate, or insufficiently detailed invoices or invoices from an unknown source.
